ENERGY TOUR

8TH APRIL 2025

As part of our on-going exploration of climate change issues, 20 members and friends went on a Green Energy Tour of the BlueScope site at Port Kembla. After watching a video describing the current and planned activities, we boarded a bus to be taken around the site, hosted by a very knowledgeable and friendly guide Rick plus two young journalists working for National Geographic. We saw the Port and the importing of cars (not so many Teslas it seems), the Steel Works and its blast furnace moving towards the use of Hydrogen, and finishing with a visit to an experimental Green Gravity Laboratory seeking to utilise the potential energy of heavy weights in mine shafts, akin to hydro-pumped storage. All in all a most enjoyable and informative visit with a splendid lunch at ShoalHarbour Marina.

The next SlowFood event is the Egyptian Soiree at Cambewarra on Saturday 10th May 2025. If you haven't got your tickets, you'd better be quick as we're heading for a sell out.
